NOTES

As you see, some panels are complete in every detail, while others are awaiting confirmation of givers and/or titles of papers. Would you please let me know if your name should not be on the programme, or alternatively the title of your paper where there is currently a blank against your name? It would be helpful also if panel convenors could suggest chairpersons where there is not one yet indicated.

All members of the Study Group are, of course, most welcome to register for the conference and join us in Durham (with their partners) whether intending to give a paper or not. Would members who intend to come, but are not on the programme, let me know of their intentions now, if they can? Equally, would those who are on the programme and are intending to be accompanied by their partners confirm this now if possible? It would be good to have as clear an understanding as we can of the total numbers we have to cater for.

Full details of how and when to register for the conference, and of its costs, will be available in due course. Meanwhile, the all-in price quoted by the Durham University Conference and Tourism Office stands at £484 (i.e. conference fee, accommodation, meals etc.) This figure includes a £25 supplement for the conference dinner (optional) in Durham Castle but not the cost of wine (£15 per bottle). The cost of the outing to Bowes Museum has yet to be confirmed. An allowance has been made for inflation.
